BEARES COUNTED OUT FOR ASSEMBLY IN SULLIVAN COUNTY.

The Republican Board Elect His Opponer by Giving Him a Defective Ballot and Taking an Alleged Befeetive Ballot from Dr. Beaker-The Canvass in Butchess, Orange, and Columbia Counties Shows Many Errors and Some Violations of Law.

MONTICELLO, Nov. 13.-The Bullivan county canvassors, in session here late last night, awarded the cartificate of election to the Assembly to Joseph Krenrich, Republican, by an apparent majority of one vote. The Board stands nine Republicans and six Dem As is known, the returns for the several elec-tion districts as received and tabulated by County Clerk Gildersleeve, a thorough-paced Republican, reflected the present Assemblyman. Dr. George M. Beakes, by a majority of one vote, but when this result was announced Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., of Newburgh, member of the Republican State Committee, and Albany hastened here and set to work to reverse the adverse verdict of the electors by giving the seat to the defeated Repub-lican candidate. Under their manipulations the Republican canvassers, against the vig-orous protests of the minority, counted an al-leged defective Republican ballot in the town of Thompson and threw out an alleged defec tive Democratic ballot in the town of Delaware, and thus accomplished the result stated. Mr. Charles R. Defreest, Secretary of the Demo-eratic State Committee, who has been here watching the count, said to-day:
"What will we do? Dr. Beakes was counted out by brute force. It was a clear case of nine to six. The men who perpetrated this outrage will take a place on the roll of infamy along with those who perpetrated the Presidential fraud of 1876. There is only one thing we can do, and that is to appeal to the courts at one and have the wrong righted by an honest and independent judiciary."

ERBORS IN THE DUTCHESS COUNTY RETURNS. POUGHEREFRIE, Nov. 13.—The Dutchess County Board of Canvassers worked faster to-day. In nearly all the returns read clerical errors were found. In the returns from the irst district of Hyde Park there was a defective ballot. The words "Justice of the Supreme Court" were erased and "A. Rogers," Republican candidate for Assembly, written in. On the back of the ballot was this endorsement: "This was counted for John A. Vande water," the latter being the Democratic candidate for Assembly, Mr. Williams, Republican, moved that the vote be counted for Archibald Rogers, but the Democrats laid the motion on the table by a strict party vote, and the returns were sent back for correction. In the returns from La Grange 66 votes for Secretary of State were missing and could not be accounted for. The missing and could not be accounted for. The returns were sent back. In the returns from Pleasant Valley was a sworn statement by John Hart, a Republican, in which he says he voted the straight Republican ticket, but the inspector put it in the wrong box, and he asks the Board to count the same. The inspectors also sent a sworn statement acknowledging the error, and the Democratic supervisor from the town. Mr. Vail, addressed the Board confirming Mr. Hart and the inspectors. Then Mr. Charles Williams, the Republican leader in the Board, offered a resolution asking that the vote referred to be added to the total vote, and one vote be added to the number of votes returned for to be added to the total vote, and one vote be added to the number of votes returned for each Republican candidate in the district, it appearing from the return of the inspectors that one Republican vote was presented, but placed by the inspector in the wrong box. Mr. Mylod, Democrat. moved that Mr. Williams's resolution be laid up on the table, and it was resolution be laid up on the table, and it was resolution be laid up on the table, and it was resolution be laid up on the table, and it was read has adjourned until Monday. Mr. John Mylod, one of the Democratic Board of Canvassers, with J. W. Hinckley of the News-Press and a stranger, entered the County Clerk's office to-night. Mr. Hinckley said to County Clerk Hoffman in introducing the stranger:

Third district of East Fishkill, Will you let him ass them?" "I don't know." replied Mr. Hoffman, "as I have a right to let him see them."

Mr. Mylod said to the County Clerk: "They are public records. The only objection that could be made is because it is past office hours."

"I wouldn't object on that ground." replied Mr. Hoffman, "and I will show them to him. Mr. Hoffman then took the returns out of his safe and said to the stranger:

"Now, you come around here and look at them."

THE COLUMBUS COUNTY CANVASS.

HUDSON. Nov. 1:1—Four days have elapsed since the Columbia county Canvassing Board was organized and took up the work of finding the rosult of the November election, and the end is no nearer than when the task was begun. The Board has pondered over correct returns, irregular returns, defaced and illegal ballots, deficiencies, and discrepancies, until many supervisors and inspectors have been made almost crazy correcting their returns to conform to law. At 2:30 this afternoon complete returns were in from every district in the county and the canvass by towns was begun. Several minor questions of dispute were settled, a vote being given here and another taken there. When the first district of the town of Kinderhook was reached live Democratic paster ballots were found reported as illogal, they having been folded in fat not securely pasted on the ballots. They were ordered sent back to the inspectors for a further statement. Upon these ballots, no doubt, hinge the election of Osborne, Democrat, as Senator. Should they be ordered counted, another similar case will also have to be considered, which would take ten votes from Deane's apparent majority of 138.

The Republicans are leaving nothing undone to thwart the will of the people. A report is current, which is entitled to credence, that a prominent politician had offered a Democratic member of the Canvassing Board $1.000 to take the oribe. Another move was to throw out the entire vote of the town of Ciermont, on the ground that the canvass of the votes was begun before the hour for closing the polis. Deputy Attorney-General Maynard was in the city to-days in consultation with the Democrats and members of the Canvassing Board, but no questions were submitted to him for an opinion. The indications to-night are that the canvass will not be completed before the middle of next week, as many of the questions under dispute will no doubt be taken to a supreme Court Justice for an opinion before a conclusion is reached.

GROSS IRREGULARITIES IN GRANGE COUNTY,
MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 13.—The protracted struggle over the counting of the election returns by the Orange county Board of Canvassers will probably be ended to-morrow, in as far as the Board is concerned. The Democrats in the Board have insisted that there were gross irregularities and defects in the returns as received from a number of Republican districts and filed in the County Clerk's office, and have maintained that these returns should be properly corrected before the final count. The Republican members, however, have resisted any close inquisition into the returns. To-day a number of the Democratic supervisors united in filing protests against the reception of alleged vitally irregular and defective returns from about a dozen election districts including the town of Woodbury and five districts in the city of Newburgh. This opens the way for any Democratic candidate who may feel himself aggrieved to seek redress in the courts. GROSS IBREGULARITIES IN ORANGE COUNTY.

PROTEST AGAINST THE SABATOGA COUNTY CAN-AMSTERDAM. Nov. 13.—The Saratoga county can wassers convened at Ballston at 7 o clock on Thursday evening, pursuant to adjournment, and completed their labors. The total vote for each candidate was declared by the clerk, under a resolution of the Board previously adopted on the repeti of the Canwassing Committee. The vote for Flower, as declared officially, is 5,614, and that for Fassett (LOSS, a plurality for Fassett of 571. For Sensor the vote was declared to be, Hoyt 5,704, and Donaldson 0,307, a plurality for Donaldson of UK.

George L. Lewis, on behalf of the Demo-cratic County Committee, offered a protest and a series of objections to the declaring of the results of the canyans to the following ef-fect: "That in both districts of Clifton Park the returns were not properly signed by the inspectors, and that in the Becond district of that town the returns showed that all of the ballots were illegal in color. The latter ob-jection was also made to the returns from the three districts of Corinth and the First district of Baratoga Springs. That in the Sixth district in Milton the Board of Registry sat and the polls were held in a hotel where liquor was daily sold, and that in several districts the returns show on their face evidence of crasures and changes." He fauther objected that all of the returns as canvassed and reported by the committee were actually signed on Nov. 11 and 12 instead of Nov. 3, and after the several election Boards had ceased to exist. The Chairman refused to accept his objections, saying: "The clerk has declared the canvass."

The clerk has declared the canvass."

A CONTEST IN ONONDAGA COUNTY.

Syracuse. Nov. 13.—The Board of County Canvassers meet to-morrow to hear the report of the committee appointed on Tuesday. A great many irregularities have been discovered, and an exciting scene is expected to follow the presentation of the report with regard to them. The canvass for member of Assembly in the First district was finished to-day, and it showed Munro. Republican, to have a majority of 69 on the face of the returns. Late in the afternoon a protest against the granting of a certificate to Munro was filed on behalf of Ryan, the Democratic candidate. The protest rests mainly upon the ground that the Republican ballots for the towns of Camillus and Clay were mixed up, those intended for the First district being voted in the Becond, and vice versa. This change, it is contended, enabled the inspectors of election to tell at a glance whether the voter was casting a Republican ballot. The returns, on their face, give Peck (Rep.) a plurality of 388 for State Senator over Nichols, Democrat. The latter will make a contest, however, on the ground that Peck is not a citizen of the United States. The Board is Democratic by a majority of one.

Albany, Nov. 13.—The canvass in Fulton county shows these figures: For Governor—Passett, 4,653: Flower, 4,320; Bruce, 383: scattering, 85. RLECTION INSPECTORS ARRESTED.

TROY, Nov. 13.—The Hensselaer county Board of Canvassers this afternoon appointed committees on the returns and adjourned until noon to-morrow. The returns from three districts are still missing. The Democratic inspectors in two of these districts were strested to-day and arraigned before Justice Seaman on a charge of wilfully refusing to sign election roturns. They were held for examination on Tuesday.

The Official Vote of Iowa.

DES MOINES, Nov. 13.—Corrected returns give Westfall (Alliance) 11,527. Gibson (Pro.) 962. Total vote on Governor, 410,430. Boies's plurality, 8,200. Boies lacks 4,280 of having a majority of all the votes car Bestow (Dem.), for Lleutenant-Governor, has 3,178 plurality (Innes (Dem.), for Judgo, 2,683, and Deys (Dem.), for Bailroad Commissioner, 7,300.

SHOOTING A BEAR IN A FOG. Mart Kimble's Remarkable Experience is the Pike County Woods.

HOMESDALE, Nov. 13.-Mart Kimble, one of the famous Kimble family of hunters, has just re-turned from a week's hunt with Mose Westbrook at Blooming Grove, down in Pike county, with the queerest bear story told in Pike or Wayne counties for many a day.

One morning during his week's hunt. Mart says, it was very foggy, and he had taken an early start to get to a runway where he ex-pected to knock over a deer. He could not see more than twenty feet shead of him, and suddenly out of the fog loomed the dim form of a big bear. Bruin had his fore feet planted on a log, over which he was peering through the game, and then blazed away. The smoke cleared away the hunter was more than a little off of his feet by the sight of the bear standing as before.

Mart is not in the habit of shooting more than once when he fires to bring down bird or beast, and the persistence of this Pike county bear in standing there as if nothing had happened was so unusual that Mart half made up his mind that he had been wasting his powder on a bear's ghost. He determined to try another shot and if that failed to tumble the bear, to leave those woods on the double quick to he blazed away again. When he looked ahead after the third shot the bear was not to be seen.

head after the third shot the bear was how be seen.

Mart walked up to the log, and, peeking over it, discovered the mystery of what he thought had been two ineffective shots. Instead of one bear, three dead bears lay stretched out behind the log. Mart explains the presence of three bears on the theory that they were coming through the woods in single file. As the first bear fell dead at Kimble's first shot, the bear behind him took his place at the log, and was in turn succeeded by the third bear.

"It there had been another bear to get up on "Now, you come around here and the them."

The stranger walked around behind the counter to Mr. Hoffman's desk and looked at the ballots, handled them, then handed them back to Mr. Hoffman, thanked him, and, rejoining Mr. Mylod and Mr. Hinckley, all three left the office. Afterward Mr. Hinckley and the stranger were closeted in Mr. Hinckley and the stranger were cometing through the woods in single file. MORE RUMORS FROM BRAZIL. FIGHTING ALLEGED TO BE GOING

"Da Ponseca Befented, the Opposition Gain-ing Every Hour, and Mach Bloodshed Possible," According to These Advices. LONDON. Nov. 13.-Even the most alarming reports from Brazil are confirmed to-day by a despatch received by a leading financial house having large interests in Brazil. This mes-sage, so far as untangled from the cipher com-plications in which it has been wrapped, says

"Affairs look bad: upheaval probable; result uncertain, several provinces revolting; troops joining opposition; Fonseca cannot count on navy; health bad: fighting going on somewhere; Fonseca defeated; exchange dropping; garrison Rio uneasy: finance blue; paper money under cloud; prices, everything rising; presence strong (British) fleet good effect; opposition gaining every hour; much bloodshed possible."

Other and similar messages, some of them giving more details and others still being of a decidedly sensational character, have been received in London during the last few hours. The fact is not lost sight of that English financiers and merchants are in some cases. not averse to receiving and spreading bad United States reciprocity treaty with that country, and some of them would make handome profits by a fall in Brazilian securities. Further fighting is reported in Brazil and the opposition forces are again credited with a vic-tory, but the spot where the battle was fought is not stated. It is supposed to have been in the vicinity of Santa Anna, near Porto Allegre, the capital of Rio Grande do Sul. A number of other towns, in addition to Porto Allegre, are reported to have raised the flag of the National party of Brazil, and large bodies of troops are being raised in the provinces with the ultimate intention, it is said, of advancing upon the Dictator's headquarters at Sao Paulo,

It is now said that Da Fonseca's leaving Rio Janeiro for Sao Paulo was undoubtedly caused by the two facts already mentioned in these despatches, namely, that he makes his base of operations there because it is near Santos, a port he is said to be certain be can count upon. opinion that the political atmosphere of Rio Janeiro is not now beneficial to the Dictator's and because his advisers are said to be of the opinion that the political atmosphere of Rio Janeiro is not now beneficial to the Dictator's health.

There is no further news from the provinces of Pernambuco, Bahia, and Minas-Geraes, or from Santa Catarina, but, on the other hand, the reports cabled here to the effect that they have revolted against the dictatorship are not denied by subsequent cable messages. The garrisons of San Gabriel and Bage in Rio Grande do Sul are said to have joined issue with the National party.

The Governor of Rio Grande do Sul, who is an adherent of Da Fonseca's party, has assured the supporters of the Dictator in that province that a fleet of Brazilian war vessels will soon arrive off the coast of Rio Grande do Sul, and that no quarter will be shown to those who "revolted against the Government." Da Fonseca, from Bao Paulo, is sending some of the troops he has concentrated there to the assistance of Gov. Castillo, in Rio Grande do Sul, and the National party is said to be determined, if possible, not to allow the junction o those forest to be accomplished without a struggle. If Fonseca allows the Nationalists time to gather themselves together his reenforcements will have to fight their way south, and the first important ongagement of the civil war may then be looked for.

This day's cable advices add that the Nationalists will use all their energy in trying to create a diversion in Da Fonseca's rear, probably through the assistance of the forces of the province of Minas-Geraes. A later message says that Da Fonseca's rear, probably through the assistance of the forces of the province of Minas-Geraes. A later message says that Da Fonseca's rear for dementant to place a force of 7,000 men, horse, foot, and artillery in the field.

In view of these facts, and taking into consideration the continued strict censorship observed over all telegraph and cable offices in Brazil, no attention is paid here to the denials sent out by Da Fonseca's refer to the denials sent out by Da Fonseca's re

There had undoubtedly been something of a movement in favor of the restoration of Dom Pedro, but it should be remembered that Dom Pedro was an old man, and that the respect attaching to him did not extend to other members of his house. Indeed, the unpopularity of certain persons connected with him by family ties had a good deal to do with the revolution which overthrew the monarchy. The Brazillian republic had a deep and strong hold on the Brazillian people, and the reëstablisment of a monarchy was out of any reasonable consideration. The Gorman settlers were thrifty, and not by any means disposed to court the devastation that would follow a civil war. They had mostly built up for themselves comfortable homes, and, like Germans generally, had no desire to fight simply for the sake of a revolution. BERLIN. Nov. 13.—The Emperor, it is understood, has been consulting with Chancellor von Caprivi in regard to the revolution in Brazil, and strict instructions to protect German interests there and to avoid any leaning toward one party or the other have been cabled to the German Admiral in command of the South Atlantic squadron. Recoforcements, it is added, are being sent him from other stations.

Pahis, Nov. 13.—The Minister of Marine, after a long consultation with the other members of the Cabinet and with President Carnot, has cabled instructions to the French naval commanders in Brazilian waters in regard to the attitude they are to assume in the present troubles in Brazil. It is understood that, in substance, the French commanders are directed to observe the strictest neutrality.

An official telegram was received in this city to-day, from Rio Janeiro, regarding the Brazilian diplomatic service and the condition of the finances of the country. The despatch states that all the legations hitherto established in European and other countries will be maintained.

About the financial situation in Brazil, at least so far as the Government is concerned, the despatch says that all the conditions are extremely satisfactory to the authorities. The Government expects that fits receipts will be such as to make a surplus after all the expenses of administration are met. The Treasury now holds the sum of 30,000 contos of reis in cash. This amount, added to the surplus remaining from preceding fiscal years, and to the sums remaining from the loans recently negotiated by the Government, gives a reserve exceeding 60,000 contos of reis.

Sanntago DE CHILL Nov. 13.—According to advices received here, civil war has undoubtedly broken out in Brazil, and the revolutionary movement is spreading all over the country. ANOTHER IRREGULAR BANKER. Mass Confesses Himself an Embessier and Gives Himself Up.

Berlin, Nov. 13.-A report became curren on the bourse here this morning that the head of a banking and exchange firm at Charlotten-burg, a suburb of Berlin, had surrendered himself to the police, confessing that he had misappropriated a quantity of securities rumor spread rapidly, and with the knowledge who is now in the Moabit jail for his crimes. had sold or pledged securities which did not belong to him, the story found ready listeners and later in the day it become certain it was

The Charlottenburg banker who robbed his customers is named Mass. His embezzle-ments will amount to a very large sum. The members of the aristocracy were hard hit by the failure on Saturday last of the banking house of Friedlander & Sommerfeld, a number of the relatives and members of the official household being included among those who had large sums on deposit with the bankrupt firm. Mass's embezziements, though not positively known to affect the aristocracy to such an extent as Wolff's, are certain to attract the attention of the Emperor in a way that will bode ill for the offender. The money appropriated by Mass to his own use includes 20,000 marks which had been subscribed toward the fund for the erection of a church in memory of the late Empress Augusta, grandmother of Emperor William. Ten thousand marks, which were to be devoted to the Prince Frederick Charles Institute, have also disappeared. In addition to these $30,000 marks, Mass has succeeded in making away with 400,000 marks deposited in his bank by 150 artisans and small traders. use of Friedlander & Sommerfeld, a num deposited in his bank by 150 artisans and small traders.

Mass, though he evidently, had no scruples against stealing, displayed a delicacy in surrendering himself to the police. He appeared at the Central police station in Berlin this morning and delivered himself to the authorities, after confessing his wrong-doing. He gave as his reasons for surrendering to the Berlin police instead of to the Chariottenburg authorities that he held a high position in society and was ashamed to tell the police of the latter place of his crimes. His sense of shame, however, may have been quickened by the knowledge that his poor depositors would not have taken their losses with calmness, and that it would be better for him to be safely away from them when the facts became known.

VESSELS LOST IN THE STORM. Seven of the Gylle's Men Drowned-The Fairfield Abandoned, time about fifteen years ago when a white man first saw the place where this tobacco was grown.

It was Dr. Maclay, the Russtan explorer, who was landed in the darkness of night from a schooner, and, with his two or three boxes of stores, was found by the natives next morning on the beach. They had never seen or heard of a white man before and they thought he had dropped from the skies. They tied him to a tree, and shot arrows, not at him, but so near him that if he had not been a man of uncommon nerv he would certainly have flinched. The slightest indication of fear would have greatly diminished his importance in the eyes of the natives, and might have imperilied his life. They reached the conclusion at last that he belonged to a superior order of beings, and after they had kept him a prisoner for some weeks, they became fully convinced that he meant them only good. They found that he doctored their sick, and that his wonderful medicine helped them. Finally they let him live among them as a man and a brother, and they were very sorry when, after a number of months, he went away.

That spot was Astrolabe Bay, on the northeast coast of New Guinea. No white man had sver heard of the place before. It was due to Dr. Maclay's report of the richness of the soil, the friendliness of the natives, and the fairly salubrious climate that the German New Guinea Company decided to found one of their largest stations at Astrolabe Bay. When their first expedition landed, the natives appeared in threatening attitude. One of the white men shouted, "Maclay! Maclay!" and the sound of that familiar name had a magical effect. The natives dropped their weapons, and rushed forward to welcome the newcomers. They called them Maclay's brothers, and months later, when the whites could understand the natives dropped their weapons, and rushed forward to welcome the newcomers. They called them Maclay's brothers, and months later, when the whites could understand the natives better, the aborigines told them many things about the visit of the LONDON, Nov. 13.-The bark which was wrecked yesterday off Kinsale, Ireland, is the Gylfe. The seven other men on the bark were drowned. The sea is washing the cargo out of the vessel, and much of it is coming ashore. Stories of wreck and disaster caused by the

The steamer was bound from the Tyne for Genoa, and was caught in the hurricane on Wednesday last in latitude 47 north.longitude 6' west, just as she wason the outer edge of the Bay of Biscay. As soon as the water began to come in the pumps were started, and although they were worked to their greatest capacity the engine first were soon extinguished, and then the vessel became helpless. The steamer began to settle, and it was decided to abandon her. After many attempts all the hoats got away safely, and before they had been afloat many hours they were picked up by passing vessels. No lives were lost.

As the fishing boats continue to arrive, after riding out the gale, they bring further reports of loss of life. A number of trawlers belonging to Brightling Sea, engaged in the off-shore fisheries, arrived at their home port to-day. They report that a total of seven men from their crews were lost overboard and drowned. The town of Lismore, 111 miles southwest of Dublin, has suffered a great deal of damage from the storm. Last night the gale started in from the Tyne for Genoa, and was caught in the sun's rays on a loaded rifle, as reported in a recent issue of the Albany Law Journal. It was on April 25 last that the Law Journal published this case, which was in the form of a from the storm. Last night the gale started in with renewed fury on the Irish coast.

SIXTEEN FISHERMEN DROWNED.

PARIS. Nov. 13.—News was received here today that a fishing lugger which had been caught in the furious gales which have been prevailing in the English Channel had heen driven ashore at the village of Berck-sur-Mer, near Boulogne. The lugger stranded in a very bad position, and the tremendous waves which swept over her drove her up further on the beach and soon battered her to pieces. Her crew of fishermen made a desperate attempt to save their lives, but their struggles were of no avail, and one after another they succumbed, until sixteen of them had been swept to their death by the surf.

"The murder case of the State agt. Avery, recently tried in Henry county. Tenn. is one of the most remarkable in the annals of criminal jurisprudence, and proved the phenomenal genius of the attorney for the accused, a prominent criminal lawyer from Cineinnati, named Wallis. In June, 1887. Charles Ensley, a cousin of Avery, was killed in his room, while lying on a lounge, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The weapon used was a small rifle, sending a 32-calibre hall through Ensley's brain. No one was in the house at the time but Ensley. An empty rifle was found lying in its rack on the side of the wall, and the bullet fitted the tube. Avery was arrested for the crime, as he was the only living close relation to Ensley, and would have profited by his death to an extent of nearly $100,000. Avery was tried, pleaded not guilty, but was convicted of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be hanged. He appealed to the Supreme Court, and engaged Mr. Wallist to defend him. The Supreme Court remanded it back to the Circuit Court on account of technical errors. Two mistrials have been brought about. Now comes the strangest part of the story.

"The brilliant Wallis struck the keynote to the mystery. In August last he had the rifle londed and hung on the wall, a white sheet with the f.-rm of a man marked on it and a heavy cut glass pitcher of water placed on the shell above. ARE WE GOING TO SEIZE BAWAIT?

They Have Started a Rumor to Shangka That That is the Charleston's Mission. BRANGHAL, Nov. 13-The United States cruises Charleston has left these waters for Honolulu capital of the kingdom of Hawaii, and it is assorted fiere that the commander of the Charleston, George C. Remey, has received in-structions from the United States Government to seize the Hawaiian Islands in certain contingencies. There is reason to believe that this report, which seems to be believed in offi-cial circles here, has been cabled to the British Foreign Office, and that there has been in consequence, an exchange of despatches be-tween the British Admiralty and the Admiral waters. Ostensibly the mission of the Charles ton is simply to protect American interests in Hawali and to afford a refuge for American citizens on those islands should one be needed. The American colony here and others also seem to be in hearty sympathy with the alleged intentions of the United States.

As it is understood here, the Charleston's mission is not a bold and uncalled-for seisure of the Hawaiian kingdom, but, as one person puts it, "It is to be simply the taking of a firm diplomatic step in what are considered by the United States Government to be the best interests of the United States."

PROGRAMME OF THE TORIES.

Propositions Relating to Ireland-Con-sions to the Labor Vote.

LONDON, Nov. 13.-The Executive Committee of the Conservative Associations has drafted a platform to be adopted at the great party caucus, which opens in Birminghan on Nov. 23 as the final programme of the party for the coming elections. The leading proposal concerns Ireland, and discloses the fact that the Conservative leaders have resisted the appeal Irish affairs. The conference will be asked to endorse the intention of the Ministers to extend local government and promote technical education in Ireland. At the same time it is declared that the inequalities arising from education in Ireland. At the same time it is declared that the inequalities arising from according to Ireland a disproportionate representation in Parliament ought to be redressed. Other important planks provide for the extension of the franchise to women who are land owners or house occupants; the creation of a labor department under a member of the Cabinet to be termed the Labor Minister, and legislation to enable local authorities to acquire land to facilitate the creation of small rural holdings.

As a further concession to the labor vote the conference will declare in favor of the principle of labor representation and will urge Conservatives to support labor candidates everywhere who appeal to enter public life upon no party lines. This plank, contrasting with the Liberal pronouncement against labor candidates in purely labor interests, is deftly contrived to encourage a split in the radical workmen's vota. Next, the Government is requested to increase the number of appointments of workmen as factory inspectors and to appoint women inspectors.

The resolution proposed by Howard Vincent, M. P.: an eager advocate of imperial federation, who has just returned from America full of wrath against the McKinley law, favors a preferential tariff throughout the British Empire, the adoption of which will not commit the party leaders.

The "one man, one vote" principle is denounced, while it is declared that the ballot act must be amended to exclude illiterate voters.

Thinks England Will Lose,

LONDON, Nov. 13.-The Saturday Review says: There are various reasons for thinking that we are not within reach of hearing the last of the Behring Sea matter. The recurrence of the fishery disputes is chiefly due to the necessity of pleasing the Irish bosses in American politics by finding a plausible pretext for rudeness toward England. If one excuse is removed, another will be found."

The Review adds that it does not share the confidence expressed by some that the arbitrators will decide in England's favor, however plain the case seems in favor of this country. Past experience forbids such an expectation.

"It would be neither agreeable nor useful."
the article continues, "to survey the history "It would be neither agreeable nor useful," the article continues, "to survey the history of the dispute. Mr. Blaine has been dextarous and ingenious in his pettifogging, unscriptious in his quotation, bold in making claims. He has jeered, chopped logic, and played to his gallery of Irish bosses. INDIANS IN REVOLT.

A Part of Big Foot's Band Deserts the Cheyenne Agency. Sr. Paul, Nov. 13.-The remnant of Big Foot's band of Indians under Red Cloud numbering sixty families, is in open revolt against the authority of the agent at Chey-enne Agency, South Dakota. Indian Allotting Agent McKean tells the story. He says this band of Indians has been living on the south side of the Cheyenne River, upon ceded lands, as no Indian can live off the ceded lands as no indian can live off the reservation without taking land in severalty and declaring his intention of becoming a citizen.

McKean went up to allot their lands. When he got there he found that they had a few days before sold off all their stock, packed up their effects and left only a trace of their former cann.

He notified the agent, who despatched half a dozen Indian police after the band half a dozen Indian police after the band robbing them back to the Cheyenne agency. They overtook the band near the edge of the Pine Ridge Agency and endeavored to pursuade them to return. All but one Indian refused. They said they were going on to the Pine Ridge Agency to reside there in the future. future.

The Indian policemen returned to the agent, and, when McKoan left, the agent had despatched a big force of Indian police to bring the Indians back. It is not believed that there will be any great trouble, as the band is not large enough to make much resistance.

THE BARNABY MURDER. Colorado Authorities Getting Evidence Against Dr. Graves in New England,

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 13.-District Attorney Stevens of Denver and Mr. J. H. Conrad, son-in-law of Mrs. Josephine A. Barnaby, for the murder of whom Dr. T. Thatcher Graves will be tried in Denver on the 24th inst, left this two days in the examination of witnesses from prosecution. Superintendent Cornish of the Boston Pinkerton Agency has been in consultation with them, and as the result of their in vestigation it is said that the Government will introduce forty witnesses at the trial. Much additional testimony has been obtained from Danielsonville and neighboring towns in Connecticut, which, it is claimed, reflects seriously on Dr. Graves's reputation while residing there, based upon allegations of malpractice.

District Attorney Stevens says that the trial will probably occupy four weeks and that Judge A. J. Rising, one of the ablest and most prominent jurists in the West, will preside over the trial. The counsel for the Government will include District Attorney Stevens, Judge Belford, and Thomas Ward. Jr., chief assistant in the attorney's department, while Dr. Graves has retained the law firm of Wells. Macon & Furman.

Col. Daniel R. Ballou of this city, who will be associated with the defendant's counsel, has sharply criticised, in a newspaper, the course of the District Attorney in giving his personal attention to the proguestness of evidence, and has reflected severely upon the character and methods of the Colorado neopla Messa. Stevens and Courad promounce the statement as a breach of professional cliquette, and promise some sensational developments in the trial, pointing to collusion between Col. Ballou as attorney, recommended by Dr. Graves, and Dr. Graves as agent and physician, recommended by Col. Ballou, in obtaining possession of Mrs. Barnaby's property.

This evening Col. Ballou brought a civil suit for libel against John H, Courad in the sum of, S100,000 based, upon at article published in an evening possession of Mrs. Barnaby's property.
